BOARD ACTIONApproval of President's Goals
(BA5309)

A. Buckley made a motion to approve the President's Goals as presented. M. Benecke seconded the motion.

J. Goodnow said that since she presented her draft last month, she had received feedback from three of the Trustees. She said that she had integrated the feedback and included a memo of answers to the questions she received with the draft of the goals this evening.

K. Lawrence-Webster asked about the funding of the diversity office and the diversity initiatives.

J. Goodnow explained the current funding structure for the diversity office noting that the Director of Diversity and Inclusion is a half time position. Carlos McMath, who serves as the Director also works in the Student Engagement Office.

J. Goodnow reviewed several of the diversity initiatives that the College has engaged in over the years including the "Men of Delta" program and efforts through the Human Resources Office to increase the diversity in the College's applicant pools.

M. Benecke pointed out that the Board is approving the goals and not what has been done. She asked that the discussion focus around the content of the goals.

K. Lawrence-Webster said that diversity is not a goal if the funding isn't there to support it. She asked about efforts to recruit minority faculty and staff at HBCUs. K. Lawrence-Webster said that for others diversity is about many things. She said that for her, diversity is about African American people.

M. Nash said that he would like to see more specificity regarding the diversity goals. He asked for specifics regarding employees and graduates. He also asked for a numeric target for the graduates.

M. Benecke asked C. McMath what his goals are and why they aren't in this document (the draft President's Goals).

C. McMath said he is working with the President to solidify his goals which will focus on communication of diversity and inclusion efforts, diversity and inclusion policies and procedures, recruiting students, and education through seminars and events.

Regarding the goals for strengthening the relationship and improving transfer agreements with SVSU, M. Thomas said she would like more specific measures outlined.

M. Nash said he feels that the goal for the Midland Center should be moved from tactical to strategic.

Following the discussion, Vice Chair Benecke called for a vote.
